Colorado Division of Insurance Consumer Insurance Council Volunteer Information Form

The Consumer Insurance Council was formed by the Division of Insurance in 2001. The mission of the Council is to discuss and share information on insurance issues. The Council provides insights from a consumer's perspective on regulations and initiatives developed by the Division of Insurance and acts in an advisory capacity to the Commissioner and Division of Insurance.

The Consumer Insurance Council meets between four and eight times annually in the Denver-metro area during normal business hours. Most meetings are held at the Division of Insurance offices in downtown Denver.

Council members are consumers who are interested in insurance issues and may represent grassroots organizations.

Insurance producers, industry representatives and actively practicing health care providers are not eligible to sit on the Council.

Please review the Council's operating principles at <http://www.dora.state.co.us/insurance/cc/oprprin07.pdf> for additional information about the qualifications and responsibilities for Council members.
